

South East Coast Ambulance Service CROWBOROUGH COMMUNITY FIRST RESPONDERS

What is a Community First Responder?

We are specially trained volunteers working with South East Coast Ambulance Service, responding to emergency 999 calls in the local area

(We are not a substitute to the ambulance service, an ambulance is dispatched at the same time)

Why do we exist?

As we are volunteers, we work our shifts in our local community. This means that we can often reach you within minutes and deliver potential life-saving treatment ahead of our colleagues arriving

How are we funded?

As a charity we have to raise money to purchase kit our volunteers use for training and also for attending calls. The one-off cost to get a CFR on the road is around £1,800. The CFRs do not receive any remuneration for the time they are on shift or training
